

From Finished Work to Full Walk

- Part 4: Expectations - Sons Don't Wait Passively, They Partner Actively

by John Himmelberger

Intro

Expectation isn't emotional hype, it's the fruit of intimacy. This fourth and final session in the series challenges us to stop waiting passively for God to act and start engaging in faith-filled partnership. Sons don't spectate, they steward. Expectation is what it looks like to carry hope in motion: to speak, worship, and move in sync with Heaven. You're not stuck, you're stationed. This teaching calls you to rise in active belief, trust the Father's timing, and participate fully in what He's already unfolding.

My Intention and Assumptions

I hope that your relationship with God, Jesus, and the Holy Spirit is strengthened through this teaching. My assumption is that you have read or are reading all 66 books of the Bible for context. This is meant to be 'salt' and make you thirsty. You're welcome.

About the Author

John Himmelberger is a teacher, pastor, and lifelong learner. With decades of experience walking with Jesus and leading others into transformational truth, John brings a grounded yet radical perspective rooted in Scripture, personal growth, and kingdom living.

<https://johnhimmelberger.com> | johnhimmelberger@gmail.com

From Finished Work to Full Walk: Living as Sons in the Father's House

Part 4: Expectations — Sons Don't Wait Passively, They Partner Actively

Intro:

Expectation is not a mood. It's not emotional hype. It's the posture of a heart aligned with Heaven—anchored in identity and fueled by faith. Expectation is what happens when sons and daughters believe God will move and know they have a role in the movement.

We don't wait like beggars hoping for scraps. We wait like heirs watching the timing of our inheritance. We're not sidelined spectators. We're strategic partners in what Heaven is unfolding.

1. Expectation Is Active Faith

Scripture: Hebrews 11:1 (AMP)

"Faith is the assurance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen."

Expectation is faith with its eyes open and its sleeves rolled up. It's not passive hope—it's prophetic posture. It stands in faith before there's evidence and says, "I know who He is. I know what He's said. I'm standing until I see it."

Truth Bomb:

Sons don't just hope for change. They partner with it.

2. Expectation Invites the Miraculous

Scripture: Acts 3:1–10

A lame man was expecting something. What he got was more than money—he got a miracle. His posture of expectation created the atmosphere for divine interruption.

Truth to Declare:

- I expect God to move.
- I don't shrink my prayers to fit what I see.
- I live in the realm of "more than I asked for."

Kingdom Key:

God doesn't need your help—He wants your faith.

From Finished Work to Full Walk: Living as Sons in the Father's House

Part 4: Expectations — Sons Don't Wait Passively, They Partner Actively

3. Spoken Expectation Shifts Atmospheres

Scripture: Romans 4:17 / Proverbs 18:21

Abraham called forth what didn't exist. The centurion said, "Just say the word." What we speak reveals what we expect. Your words are steering wheels for the supernatural.

Gold Nugget:

You shape the environment of your life by what you believe—and say.

If Heaven moves on agreement, what are you agreeing with?

4. Expectation in Worship — Atmospheres of Encounter

Scripture: Psalm 22:3 / Acts 2:1–4

God inhabits praise—but not just any praise. Expectant praise. When believers gather with hearts full of expectation, worship becomes a portal, not a performance. It's where Heaven meets hunger.

Truth Bomb:

Your worship isn't filler. It's firewood. Expectation lights the match.

5. Expectation in Partnership — Sons Walk Differently

Scripture: Romans 8:14 / Ecclesiastes 3:11

Sons don't just wait—they steward. We don't sit back and wait for God to do it all. We walk with Him in what He's already doing. We discern His timing, but we don't let timing become an excuse for delay.

Gold Nugget:

The Father's house isn't a waiting room—it's a war room.

Sons walk in process without panic. They move with Heaven's rhythm.

6. Expectation That Endures — Identity Over Outcomes

Scripture: Genesis 50:20 / Philippians 1:6

What do you do when your expectations don't unfold like you thought? You stand on who you are, not what you see. Joseph waited years, but his posture never changed. Because expectation built on identity survives delay.

From Finished Work to Full Walk: Living as Sons in the Father's House

Part 4: Expectations — Sons Don't Wait Passively, They Partner Actively

Truth to Declare:

- I don't live in reaction—I live in revelation.
 - I trust the process because I trust the Person.
 - My Father's word never returns void.
-

Closing Activation: What Are You Expecting?

Ask yourself:

- Where have I let delay become doubt?
- Where have I lowered my expectation to match my experience?
- What has God said that I need to start partnering with again?

Write it down. Speak it out. Worship like it's already in motion.

Prayer Declaration:

Father, I thank You that I'm not a bystander in Your Kingdom—I'm a son. I reject passive hope and embrace active expectation. I speak what You've said. I move with what You're doing. I wait, not with fear, but with fire. Let my life be filled with anticipation—not for what might happen, but for what You're already stirring. I choose to partner, to speak, to move, and to believe—fully, boldly, and expectantly. In Jesus' name—Amen.